

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN ORGANIZATION LEADERSHIP DEGREE PROGRAM

This degree explores leadership from a strategic and tactical perspective and examines the management functions that impact project delivery including identification, analysis, and mitigation of project risk. This degree offers an opportunity to cultivate leadership skills to think critically, create vision based on ethical values, discern the future, take risks, and institute change within an organization. The curriculum is a blend of contemporary management practices that focus on leading people, developing teams, and facilitating change in a global environment. M.S. in Organization Leadership Celebrates its 20th Anniversary!
